Vocational Scenario or Context	In your role as a Trainee Sports Development Officer in your local sports partnership you have been asked to assist the Senior Sports Development Officer in preparing and presenting an update at the Sports Partnership annual club development conference. The update should provide local sports clubs with information as to the organisational structure and role of key sports development providers.

Task 1	As part of your role as a Trainee Sport Development Officer you must prepare a report that focuses on the organisation and structure of providers of sport development in your country. In your report you should include; i. Public, Private and Voluntary sectors examples ii. Local authorities, Governing bodies and professional providers iii. Committees, working groups, forums, consultation groups & personnel Using an example from each of the sectors you should look to describe three types of sports development organisations. Ensure that the main features of these providers are detailed along with the structure of the different organisations. Selecting different sports, you should then look to highlighting any similarities or differences that occur across the three sectors that provide these activities. PART B Now that you have developed your knowledge of the providers of sport development, for the last section of the report you are required to focus on the roles and responsibilities of the different personnel involved in this area. You need to explain three different job roles from professionals in each of the three sectors covered in Task 1. You will need to choose 3 personnel from the following: I. Sport development officers II. Sports specific roles III. Community volunteers IV. Youth workers V. Health improvement officers You are required to compare and contrast the roles and responsibilities of three different professionals. To do this you should explain any similarities or differences between the roles and also any advantages and disadvantages of these. Finally, you will need to evaluate how the jobs differ in the different types of organisation which will allow you to consider the significance of each role in promoting activity levels in a safe and secure environment.
